

Mark Billings on Auxico critical mineral project advancements in Bolivia and Colombia

written by InvestorNews | October 13, 2023

In a recent InvestorNews interview with host Tracy Weslosky, Auxico Resources Canada Inc.'s (CSE: AUAG | OTCQB: AUXIF) Chairman Mark Billings shared exciting developments regarding the company's critical minerals projects in Bolivia and Colombia.

Mark discussed the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) signed with Empresa Minera El Benton S.R.L., which holds mining rights to the El Benton Mine in Bolivia. This past-producing mine, with all the necessary licenses in place, offers a unique opportunity for near-term cash flow. Notably, the property contains exceptionally high-grades of niobium and tantalum, in addition to lithium and rare earths, making it a strategic asset for the green revolution.

Transitioning to Colombia, Billings discussed their recent achievement of securing mining title certificate for Minastyc Project and their goal of launching small-scale production. Mark said that the Minastyc Project, rich in tin, promises a straightforward process of producing concentrates. With permits allowing them to export up to 300 metric tons of tin concentrates per month, Mark said that the company's immediate focus is on production.

The interview also touched on Auxico's involvement with Central America Nickel Inc. (CAN), revealing their shared interests and goals in critical minerals. Discussing Auxico's joint venture with CAN to export rare earth concentrates from the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), Mark explains how CAN's investments in Auxico bolster Auxico's growth prospects.
