

Murchison Minerals' Troy Boisjoli on high-grade nickel sulfide mineralization results in Quebec

written by InvestorNews | December 8, 2022

In this InvestorIntel interview, Tracy Weslosky interviews Murchison Minerals Ltd.'s (TSXV: MUR | OTCQB: MURMF) CEO, President, and Director Troy Boisjoli about their recent assay results confirming extensive high-grade nickel sulfide mineralization at the HPM Property. Demonstrating near-surface mineralization at the project, Troy discusses how the results were "one of the best nickel sulfide holes drilled over the last number of years in a pre-resource stage project globally."

Speaking on the competitive advantages of the HPM Project's location in Quebec, Troy explains how Murchison has only scratched the surface of the exploration potential at the project. With an ever-increasing demand for critical minerals such as nickel, copper and cobalt, Troy provides an update on Murchison's significant pipeline of exploration targets on the HPM Project.
