

Zeeshan Syed of Avalon Advanced Materials Discusses Plans for Lithium Processing in Canada

written by InvestorNews | March 29, 2023

In this InvestorIntel interview during PDAC 2023, Tracy Weslosky talks with Zeeshan Syed, President of Avalon Advanced Materials Inc. (TSX: AVL | OTCQB: AVLNF) discussing Avalon's latest news and progress, particularly in regards to lithium.

Zeeshan says he is most excited about Avalon's Separation Rapids Lithium Project to take advantage of the market's current strong interest in lithium. He discusses the 2018 drilling campaign at the Separation Rapids Project that discovered almost 10 million tonnes of lithium. He mentions there is a new drilling program underway at the Project and that Avalon should soon have an update out on that for investors. He states: "We are quite optimistic on the results there."

Zeeshan also discusses their strategic partnership with battery giant LG Energy Solutions ("LGES") and Avalon's plans for a lithium processing facility in Canada to supply LGES, as well as the strategic importance of these Projects for Canada. He referenced his discussion today with Canada Innovation and Science Minister Francois-Philippe Champagne.
