

Christopher Berlet Discusses Stakeholder's Skye Gold and Loki Copper Zone Advances in Yukon's White Gold District

written by InvestorNews | November 20, 2024

November 20, 2024 – In a recent InvestorNews interview with host Tracy Hughes, Christopher Berlet, President, CEO, and Director of Stakeholder Gold Corp. (TSXV: SRC), shared updates from the company's 2024 exploration program at the Ballarat Gold Project in Yukon's White Gold District. Stakeholder Gold holds a 100% interest in this 18,741-hectare property, strategically located near industry leaders such as Newmont Corp. (NYSE: NEM) and Western Copper and Gold Corp. (TSX: WRN). Berlet highlighted the discovery of two major independent mineralized zones: the Skye Gold Zone and the Loki Copper Zone, emphasizing their "size potential" and the transformative impact these findings could have on the project.

Berlet detailed the Skye Gold Zone as featuring two subparallel gold-in-soil anomalies, extending 1.9 km and 1.3 km, with clusters of high-grade gold linked to intersecting structural trends identified via drone magnetic surveys. 7km southeast of the Skye Zone on the newly identified Loki Copper Zone, Berlet explained, "Our early assessment is that the Loki Copper Zone looks like an independent copper porphyry exploration target," describing a 2.3 km x 500 m trend of anomalous copper, silver, and gold linked to the Minto Intrusive Suite. "The Loki Copper Zone appears to us, at this early stage, to bear similarities to the Minto copper mine, which operated for 14 years and produced some 500 million pounds of copper," Berlet remarked, underscoring its interest and potential as a new exploration target.

As the company prepares for drilling in early 2025, Berlet noted the potential influence of infrastructure development, particularly the proposed Northern Gateway Road, which traverses Stakeholder's claims. He stated, "The road's routing may require adjustments as exploration progresses, particularly around the eastern extension of the Skye Zone." These developments, coupled with Stakeholder's systematic approach to exploration, position the company for exciting advancements in the coming years.
