(TSXV: SBMI | OTCQB: SBMCF). To participate in this engaging discussion, please click here

Silver Bullet Mines Corp. (SBMI) is a silver and copper exploration company with projects in the western United States. Its flagship Black Diamond Project, nearly 5,000 acres in the Miami-Globe copper camp, is centered on the historic Richmond Basin. The basin was the site of the 1870s native silver discoveries that helped establish the Globe camp. Historic high-grade silver-copper mines in the district include McMorris, La Plata, Helena, Silver Sevens, and Buckeye. Activity largely ceased in the early 20th century as attention shifted to major copper mines along the Arizona Silver Belt, yet high-grade silver remains prospective. Black Diamond also shows copper potential, with grades exceeding 7% at the Black Copper prospect and widespread anomalous soil results. SBMI also owns the past-producing Washington Mine near Idaho City, Idaho, where recent assays returned silver over 140 oz/ton. In Nevada, the company holds two early-stage projects in the Tonopah silver-gold camp, further strengthening its exploration pipeline.

We found the August 15th news release titled, "Silver Bullet Mines Commences Daily Processing of Super Champ High Grade Silver/Gold in Arizona" particularly noteworthy, and here are 5 key data points from it:

- Daily Processing Initiated: SBMI has begun daily processing of high-grade silver and gold mineralized material from the Super Champ Mine at its wholly owned Globe, Arizona mill, running over six tons per hour for eight hours a day, five days a week.
- High Grades and Recoveries: Previously reported head grade was over 28 oz/ton silver with 89% recovery. Concentrate assays reached 530 oz/ton silver and 0.52 oz/ton gold (16.16 g/t), with the Company expecting to maintain these grades.
- Firm Offtake Agreement: All immediate production from Super Champ is committed to a third-party buyer under a Firm Offer (July 9, 2025), with 90% payment within five days of pickup and the balance after verification. First shipment is expected soon.
- Mine Development Completed: SBMI timbered the full 125-foot lower adit and cleared over 10,000 tons of material from the upper adit, enabling safe ongoing mining from both adits.

- Planned Expansion of Production: The Company intends to increase mill operating hours by adding another shift, which would expand daily throughput beyond current levels and accelerate concentrate output.
