written by InvestorNews | October 31, 2022

In this InvestorIntel interview, host Tracy Weslosky talks to Troilus Gold Corp.'s (TSX: TLG | OTCQX: CHXMF) CEO and Director Justin Reid about their recent assay results which are among the "thickest and most continuous high grades" of gold mineralization identified at the Troilus Project in Quebec to date.

Justin starts, "Over the last four years we've drilled 250,000 meters and we've had lots of great results. We have identified over 8 million ounces of gold and growing, but these results are different." He goes on to say that the significantly higher grades identified at the new zone are expected to have a huge impact on the economics of the Troilus Project, thus making "a good deposit potentially great." Driven by the recent positive developments at the Project, Justin explains why the management decided to focus its engineering efforts towards a feasibility study rather than the previously anticipated pre-feasibility study plan of action.
