

Kobo Resources' Paul Sarjeant on the discovery of a promising gold mine opportunity adjacent to an operational one in West Africa

written by InvestorNews | August 7, 2023

In a recent InvestorIntel interview, Tracy Weslosky spoke with Paul Sarjeant, the President, COO, and Director of Kobo Resources Inc. (TSXV: KRI) about insights into the exciting potential of Kobo's mining project in West Africa. Located approximately 20 km northwest of the capital city of Yamoussoukro and directly adjacent to one of the region's largest gold mines with established processing facilities, the excitement centers around Kobo's discovery of an underexplored and promising gold mine opportunity adjacent to an operational one in Côte d'Ivoire – Kobo's 100%-owned Kossou Gold Project.

Located in one of West Africa's most prolific and developing gold districts and hosting several multi-million-ounce gold mines, Paul explains the significance of Kobo's unexplored Kossou project. An accomplished geologist, Paul clarifies that for their team 'closeology' doesn't mean simply buying adjoining properties; they're looking for dominant Shear zones known for strong structures and promising mineralization opportunities. About Kobo Resources Inc.

Kobo Resources is a growth-focused gold exploration company with a compelling new gold discovery in Cote d'Ivoire, one of West Africa's most prolific and developing gold districts, hosting several multi-million-ounce gold mines. The Company's 100%-owned Kossou Gold Project is located approximately 20 km northwest of the capital city of Yamoussoukro and is directly adjacent to one of the region's largest gold mines with established processing facilities.

The Company is drilling to unlock the potential size and scale of Kossou within 9+ km strike length of highly prospective gold in soil geochemical anomalies with excellent rock and trench sampling results. The Company's 2023 exploration plan calls for over 8,000 meters of reverse circulation drilling with an immediate goal of defining significant near surface zones of gold mineralisation. Kobo offers investors the exciting combination of high-quality gold prospects led by an experienced leadership team with in-country experience.
