

Stakeholder Gold's Christopher Berlet on Strategic Gold Exploration in Yukon's Prolific White Gold District

written by InvestorNews | March 7, 2025

March 7, 2025 – Stakeholder Gold Corp. (TSXV: SRC) stands out at PDAC 2025 with a compelling gold exploration story anchored by its highly strategic location in the prolific White Gold District of the Yukon Territory. During an interview with InvestorNews host Tracy Hughes, President and CEO Christopher Berlet emphasized the company's priority gold exploration asset—the Ballarat Gold Project—positioned adjacent to major industry players such as Newmont and Agnico Eagle Mines. With only 17 million shares outstanding, Stakeholder offers investors a uniquely tight capital structure coupled with promising exploration targets. Berlet highlighted, “Newmont is building a road called the Northern Gateway Road, 17 kilometers through our property,” underscoring the strategic advantage of the company's 18,000-hectare land position.

Stakeholder is concurrently advancing exploration efforts at the Sky Zone, located within its Yukon property, aiming to confirm the grade and economic potential of this significant gold-bearing structure. Berlet conveyed strong optimism regarding the project's economic viability, noting, “Anything above one and a half grams per tonne will be economic,” and compared the deposit's geological characteristics favorably with the nearby Saddle and Coffee deposits. Stakeholder is concurrently advancing exploration efforts at the Loki copper zone, also located on the Yukon property, aiming to validate the scale of a promising porphyry intrusive structure.

Additionally, Stakeholder's exploration initiatives are financially supported by a robust, revenue-generating quartzite business in Brazil, where earnings reached approximately $1 million last year and are projected to grow significantly. Berlet explained the financial synergy clearly: "Expanding cash flow from our exotic stone business in Brazil will allow us to pursue the company's high-quality gold and copper exploration initiatives." The recently operational third quarry in Brazil further strengthens this cash flow, enabling Stakeholder to minimize shareholder dilution and effectively finance its gold exploration projects.
