Stakeholder Gold is a mineral exploration and development company focused on creating shareholder value by combining high-value exploration potential with cash flow generation to minimize dilution. The Company holds a 100% ownership interest in the 18,741-hectare Ballarat Gold-Copper Project, centrally located in the prolific White Gold District of Yukon, Canada—near Newmont's Coffee Mine, Western Copper and Gold's Casino Project, and White Gold Corp.'s operations. Approximately 17 km of the planned Resource Gateway Road will pass through Stakeholder's claims, enhancing project logistics. Stakeholder also generates cash flow through its wholly owned Brazilian subsidiary, Victoria Mining Corporation, which produces and exports exotic quartzite stone from Minas Gerais, Brazil supporting exploration funding while reducing shareholder dilution.
