

CBLT Generates Net Profit and Positive Cash Flow

written by Raj Shah | October 24, 2018

✖ October 24, 2018 (Source) – CBLT Inc. (TSXV: CBLT) (“CBLT”) filed at SEDAR its interim financial results for the quarter ended August 31, 2018.

CBLT reported a net profit for the quarter, generated positive cash flow, and increased shareholders equity on the balance sheet. Assets increased while Liabilities decreased. These achievements were due in large part to successful M&A activity and decreased G&A.

“We are very pleased to be able to deliver these positive results to the shareholders”, said Peter M. Clausi, CBLT’s CEO. “The public market for junior explorers is still in a pre-bull phase, so we are poising CBLT to benefit from the inevitable turn in the broader commodities markets.”

As part of this strategy, CBLT’s recently announced the acquisition of a portfolio of Canadian mining assets from GTA Resources and Mining Inc. (subject to shareholder and regulatory approvals – see CBLT’s press release of Friday, October 19, 2018). Management intends that this portfolio mitigates CBLT’s risk by metal, by stage of exploration and by jurisdiction, at fair pricing, and further exposes CBLT to the inevitable rotation of capital into commodities.

Being able to generate a profit and positive cash flow enables CBLT to fund its working capital and its exploration programs, and to raise ‘flowthrough’ to further fund the exploration programs. CBLT has exploration programs underway on four of its current assets.

CBLT is a Canadian mineral exploration company with a proven leadership team, targeting cobalt in reliable mining jurisdictions. CBLT continues to be a project generator and an efficient steward of its shareholders' capital.
