written by Raj Shah | August 4, 2022

(“Nickel 28” or the “Company”) (TSXV: NKL) (FSE: 3JC0) is pleased to provide operational results for the production quarter ending June 30, 2022 for the Company’s largest asset, being the Ramu Nickel-Cobalt (“Ramu”) integrated operation in Papua New Guinea. Nickel 28 currently holds an 8.56% joint-venture interest in Ramu which is operated by the Metallurgical Corporation of China (“MCC”).

- Ramu Q2 2022 production of 8,128 tonnes of contained nickel in MHP.
- Ramu Q2 2022 production of 695 tonnes of contained cobalt in MHP.
- Ramu Q2 2022 nickel sales of 6,624 tonnes of contained nickel.
- LME average nickel price of US$13.13/lb. in Q2 2022, a 67% increase from the same period last year. 2022 H1 LME nickel price is $12.50/lb. compared to nickel price of $7.92/lb. for H1 2021.
- Fast Markets average cobalt price of US$38.19/lb. in Q2 2022, an 81% increase from the same period last year. 2022 H1 Fast Markets cobalt price of $36.93/lb. compared to cobalt price of $21.38/lb. for H1 2021.
- Actual cash cost, net of by-product credits of $3.03/lb. of nickel produced as MHP, a 7% increase from the same period last year. H1 2022 cash cost, net of by-product credits of $2.22/lb. of nickel which is unchanged from the same period in the prior year.

“The second quarter of 2022 was one of unpredictable factors which Ramu has been able to successfully navigate through” stated Nickel 28’s Chairman, Anthony Milewski. “The continued conflict in Ukraine along with the suspension of nickel trading on the LME in March resulted in significant volatility and uncertainty in the nickel market. Coupled with significant volatility in input commodities, the consistent and stable production at Ramu cannot be understated. Sales in Q2 initially improved from Q1 levels as demand increased for lithium-ion batteries, only to see another curtailment due to continued impacts from the pandemic. We also saw significant price increases in sulphur which impacted our cash cost, however that was offset by higher by-product credits due to the strong cobalt price. We expect the balance of 2022 to stabilize as we are seeing demand and commodity prices return to 2021 levels. Sulphur prices have also returned to less than $100/tonne, down from a peak of $600/tonne in Q2. Our partners continue to demonstrate why the Ramu operation is considered the best HPAL in the world and we continue to see strong demand for MHP as the Chinese battery industry continues to emerge from the global pandemic.” continued Mr. Milewski.
